A Fabulous Journey

A 15th century sitting Buddha from the Kingdom of Lanna in Thailand, cosmic theoretical maps from India and a red feather headdress from Papua New-Guinea are just some of the works to discover at the Parcours des Mondes, the international show devoted to the tribal arts. This journey into the diversity of the arts of Africa, the Americas, Asia and Oceania offers a showcase for exceptional pieces from dozens of galleries and exhibitors from around the world while featuring thematic exhibitions ranging from the Bambara people of Mali to war clubs of the South Pacific. This year contemporary tribal arts are on the agenda for the first time and French Polynesia is being honoured this year with conferences, film projections and an exhibition revolving around the ancestral and ancient art of the tapa cloth. The exhibitions are hosted in and by art galleries throughout the Beaux-Arts quarter of the Saint-Germain-des-Prés neighbourhood.
